ORIENTAL NATIONALISM.

The great success of an Asiatic people in Japan is being turned to good account by Indians in their current magazines. In the "Modern Review" there is a well-drawn contrast between education in Japan and India. The mere figures contrasted are by no means inoculated to stimulate our national self-compilators.

means inoculated to stimulate our national self-complaincy.—
The population of Japan is 46 or 47 millions. It approaches most closely to Madras in area and the United Provinces in population, whilst British India as a whole has a population five times as large. But while Japan spends at least five millions sterling out of her public funds on education, the cost to the public funds on education, the cost to the public funds on education, the cost to the public funds on a million and a half. To make the expenditure equal to that of Japan, it should have been at least 97 millions, or eighteen times as much as it now is. In fact, the State and the local suthorities in British India spend less on education in all its aspects than what the tisy kingdom of the Mikado spends on educational buildings alone, and the latter amounts to only 28 per cent. of the total cost of education in Japan. The State expenditure on adnotation is Rs. 1-19-4 pies per head in Japan, in British India it is a little over an anna! Even the small State of Baroda spends sever annae per head on education. That Japan is not exceptionally liberal in this respect will appear from the fact that Germany spends Rs. 5-72 pies; France, Rs. 3-13-11 pies; England, Rs. 3; Spain, Rs. 1-7-2 pies; and Italy Rs. 42-11 pies, per head on education. The smaller States of Europe spend even more.

The explanation given is still less pleasant reading for the Buglishman: —

To us if seems that different results in Japan and in India can only be accounted for by the difference in the policy of the respective Governments which control education in the two countries. The sim of the one is to turn out a perfect and complete man, strong and self-reliant, that of the other is to create subordinates in Government and mercantile office, so as to render the work of foreign administration and exploitation possible.

Mr. Alfred, Stead, in the "Hindustan Review," expounds to our Indian fellow subjects the glories of Japanese patriotism. He says that the continuous devotion of the Japanese to their deceased ancestors and to their Emperor as the embodiment of all that is venerated in the nation's past has been going on for over 2,500 years. If thoughts have power, what power, he asks, must not these thousands of years have generated! The veneration resches the present day with accommulative force impossible of comprehensions, and creates in the Japanese people a patriotic and loyal force of inconceivable magnitude. He finds that in religious matters the Western world may learn from Japan the dangers of a State Church, the climination of politics from religion, but the still proposible of comprehension, and creates in the Japanese to seek out and help on the best in all creeds, and an insistence on practical and philosophical religion.

Mr. V. G. Pradhan describes the Japan Women's University, begun in 1900.

In the "Modern Review" the India of to-day is contrasted with Prance in the period preceding the Revolution. The writer urges that the same causes which were responsible for famine in France before the Revolution exist in India to-day. Indian self-government has been an-inhilated or reduced to suppotence, even as was the case in France. An article on how the Sepoy is housed contrasts the official optimism of the supreme Indian authorities with the very unsatisfactory reports tendered by the district principal medical officers. There certainly in a strong case made out for barrack reform.

Mr. S. C. Mookerjee insists that with the India of to-day prostrate under the heel of the foreigner, her national gospel must be that of sorrow, also that of repeatance for national failings in respect of polytheism, caste degradation of woman, licenticusness and an ignorant priesthood. He insists that it is necessary for the English people to be at the helm in India. They are a superior rese, and Indians must aspire to be their equal in manily virtues.

In the "American Review of Reviews," Mr. W. M. Zumbro, President of the American College in Madura, writes that India is a nation in the making. The trouble prevailing there at present is simply the pangs of birth. There are three dominant notes in the murmar of discontent—one political, another industrial, the third religious and social. The industrial discontent is due to the fact that acientific and industrial education has been almost wholly neglected, and the educated classes kept along discontent is due to the fact that scientific and industrial education has been almost wholly neglected, and the educated classes kept aloof from industrial pursuits. The result on agriculture is painful to contemplate. The net area of the land that is cropped is only about 37.5 per cent. of the total area, while more than 37.5 per cent. of the total area, while more than 18 per cent. of the total area that can be cultivated is left waste. The old industries are declining, and "caste exclusiveness, suspicion and lack of business integrity make it as yet impossible, save among the Parsees, for the people to organise commercial enterprises." He recognises that England means to do the fair thing with India, sometimes slowly and gradually, but in the long run determined that India shall have a square deal, and in time a government of her own.

CORPORATION OF WESTERN

FANTASIA AT QARA

A fantasia arranged by Messrs. Gusman and Dentamaro took place at Qara on Sunday to celebrate the completion of their contract for the construction of the formation of the Western Gases Railway. The party from Cairo consisted of Johnson Pasha and Mr. A. P. Mack, directors of the Corporation of Western Egypt, Mr. B. Dentamaro, Mr. W. C. Soales, local secretary of the Corporation, various members of the staff of Messrs Gusman and Dentamaro and a large number of friends interested in, or connected with, the work. Special cars had been reserved on the 8 o'clock train from Cairo on Saturday evening, and an excellent diuner was served by the Wagon Lits Company. On their arrival at Khargeh junction at 7 o'clock on Sunday morning one of the trains of the Western Oases Railway, gaily decorated with bunting, was waiting to convey the party to Qara, where the fête was to be held. The fête ground was gay with multi-coloured streamers and Chinese lanterns and a crowd of upwards of 5,000 natives were already thronging the course. Most of these men had actually been engaged on the formation work. All the surrounding villages were represented by their omdehs and sheikhs, some having travelled all the way from distant Khargeb. The aports programme, which comprised events for both Europeans and natives, was carried out without a hitch, the camel race (natives) being keenly contested. Several of the Awassim Bedouins gave a very interesting display of horsemanship, and a troupe of dancing girls performed at intervals.

The menus provided for lunch and dinner were excellent. At the dinner Johnson Pasha, speaking in French, proposed the toast of Messrs. Gusman and Dentamaro and expressed the satisfaction which the directors felt at the manner in which the work had been carried out, Mr. Dentamaro replying on behalf of his firm. Mr. Gusman is at present in Europe but his secretary, Mr. Pleimes, responded on his behalf, and proposed "Success to the Corporation" coupling the name of Mr. W. C. Hornblower with the toast, which was receive siding at Kharga junction since their arrival on Sunday morning.

Messra, Gusman and Dentamaro are to be congratulated upon the way in which they have accomplished the difficult work with which they were entrusted, the greater part of which was done under the personal superintendence of Mr. Dentamaro. The road, though only a marrow guage one, offered more difficulties in construction that any other in Egypt, the ground over which it had to be laid rendering it impossible to obtain material for the fornation near at hand in a large number of places, and it required all the through organisation, which was fortunately in evidence, to keep labourers at work during the bot months of the summer when the hardest part of the work was in hand.

The fantasis was a fitting termination to a successful work, and all the parties concerned are to be congratulated on the admirable way in which the arrangements were carried out from the fantatr to finish. The catering and aleeping arrangements on the Wagon Lits were in all respects perfect.

KAMEL'S GREAT OBATION

A PACKED HOUSE.

Truly the house which greesed Mustapha Pasha Kamel yesterday evening was packed to overflowing by an enthusiastic crowd of sheikhe and students, and a fairly large assembly of the man in the street, while not a few Syrians, overnowing by an enthinaisance crowd observas and stadents, and a fairly large assembly of the man in the street, while not a few Syrians, I Jews, and representatives of European nations were present to hear the great discourse of the illustrices Pasha. His entrance on the stage was the signal for an outburst of applause and as the leader of the Nationalist party stood before the table, on which was placed at either end a candle to illuminate his beaming countenance, the hall re-echoed with the cheers of a multitude of ardent nationalists. When the cheering had subsided the speaker thanked his audience for their hearty greeting, and in response came a shout of "Ya ashab al watan," while others cried "long lave Mustapha Pasha Kamel." Throughout his speech the Pasha was so londly applanded that he had to appeal to his audience to restrain their excherance, but he must have been somewhat disconcerted by the fact that the applause came at inopportune moments. Indeed, the audience became so lax that it was necessary for the Pasha to exclaim at more than one part of his speech "Now you may cheer and clap." The speech lasted an hour and a half, and we cannot but record that as the time passed away the audience speared to tire and the applause became less and less frequent. Despite his eloqueuce Kamel was unable to hold his audieuce, though this is hardly suprising in view of its composition, for, as far we could judge, no politician or Egyptian of note was present to support the would-be leader of a national movement. His ardour, none the less, was unabated and he spoke with fervour emphasised by excited gesture. Though speaking with eloquence, we must accuse our fervour emphasised by excited gesture. Though speaking with eloquence, we must accuse our confir re of vain repetition. The keynote of his speech was "Were I not an Egyptian, I would have liked to be an Egyptian for the Egyptian's sake." Would it be unfair at such a moment have liked to be an Egyptian for the Egyptian's sake." Would it be unfair at such a moment to cast a doubt upon the true Egyptian descent of the pseudo-patriot?

In the course of his speech he dealt with the Lambert and Denishwai affairs, Lord Cromer and his policy, Mr. Dunlop's misdeeds, etc. He alluded indirectly to the Syrian colony in Egypt by warning his heazers against the tricks of that section of the inhabitants of Egypt, who had come here hungry and without resources and in spite of the kindness with which they had been received they acted in a treacherous manner. Kamelearnestly impressed on his audience the necessity for rallying around him as their leader. He of course did not neglect to deal with religion and dwelt with great reiteration on the vital necessity for religious education in the schools. He concluded that there was no need to despair as there was no doubt of the ultimate independence of Egypt. pendence of Egypt.

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S VISIT.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEOSSIA, October 18

The sayings and doings of Mr. Winston Charchill have been the all-engrossing topic of interest here during the past week. It would segue as if every possible section of the community presenting ways where of children segm: as if every possible section of the com-munity, representing every phase of activity and shade of politics had been presented to him. He appears, moreover, to have received the numerous deputations with unvarying courtesy and, while paying careful attention to the manifold addresses and speeches deliver-ed, to have made it quite clear by his replies what the views of the British Government are, or what three of action he was disposed to re-commend. His interances were reasonably on what line of action he was disposed to re-commend. His attensaces were reasonably definite and outspoken, and seem for that very reason, rather more, perhaps, than for the matter-expressed, to have left a good impres-sion. The hope is generally entertained that as a result of his visit a closer personal interest in Oyprus affairs will now manifest itself at the Colonial office in its dealings with this de-audiance.

Need of English Newspaper.

On such occasions as this one fells the need of an English local newspaper. The ordinary English resident or visitor is only able to glean information of what is happening in the Island either from hearsay, which is mostly unreliable, or by wading painfully through the varbose columns of the native press. Such a newspaper, the "Cyprus Herald," was started and carried on for a time in the early eighties, but for want of support, it was 'ere long aban but for want of support, it was 'ere long doned and its place has never been filled.

The Museum Committee has at length made a start on the building of the Museum. This committee exists for the purpose of administering the funds raised during the Jubilee year with the object of erecting a museum, wherein Cypriot objects of antiquity and archeological remains may find a suitable resting place, and at the same time be open to public inspection. A central site has been selected for the building, on land given by Government, the plans have been approved and the foundations are now being begun. It is intended that the building now commenced shall be of modest dimensions, but so planned as to be capable of extension later as circumstances may require and funds permit.

is a deserted building bearing on the North side the legend "Casino et Hotel, Phase de Mex." It is of two stories with a wide baleony running, round the spiger storey and apscious verandals. East and West on the ground floor. On the terrsee, which projects into the see, is a band-stand and in the see, a bathing, place bewn out of the natural rock. There are out-buildings and a nicely shaded strip of garden at the back of the betal. The whole however is rapidly becoming delapitated. On the door of one of the out-buildings, over which is painted "Buffet," are nailed two horseshoes but the "luck" has evidently departed. The casino, at one time, must have been a delightful place to recruit at and before the Government required the property, I am told some eight trains ran out from Alexandria, to the casino on Sundays. To-day it has something of the pathes of all deserted places and reminds us of Swinburn's "Forsaken Garden."

Some weeks ago, whilst waiting near the Ramleh. station for a Mex tram, I observed a lady on the opposite canseway also waiting for someone or something. We eventually travelled on this same tram. She was young, good-looking and well-dressed—in a word "chio." She was wearing a white akirt and blouse, small and dainty white doe-skin shoes and a black straw hat trimmed with rose-coloured chiffon (I think it is termed) also a chatelaine from which depended several curious silver ornaments or weapons of the toilette. When the tram was slowly threading the alums of Gabbari I became curious as to her destination. After consulting her watch with a feverish impatience at least a dozen times during the journey she left the tram at the new casino near the terminus. I could not help speculating as to whom she was going to meet! I might have gratified my currouity had I chosen to do so but it was, after all, no business of mine, and I trust they enjoyed the sunset which was particularly fine that evening. At this more modern casino, besides the attraction of see, bathing, an excellent meal may be obtained

The Salt Lake

After leaving the old Casino yesterday After leaving the old Casino yesterday I wended my way between several Bedouin tents to the brow of the quarry opposite, which, with its lime-kilns and blasting operations, is a hive of industry. To the left, under the lee of the cliff, some of the Army of Occupation are encomped in their usual summer quacters, than which none could be healthier. In front stretches the great Salt Lake from which the concessionaires have recently, in a few weeks. stretches the great Sait Lake from which the concessionaires have recently, in a few weeks, extracted over 50,000 tons of sait. The lake appears to be about 1½ miles across at this point and extends some 19 miles in a Sw. direction. The surface bears the appearance of a sheet of ice on which anow has partially melted and frozen again. To those in search of novelty I would suggest,

A Motor Trip round the lake. The surface would readily round the lake. The surface would readily permit of a motor bring driven over any portion and permission could doubtless be obtained from the concessionaires. I could imagine nothing more delightful than a spin over the lake in the moonlight, there being no obstacles to bar the way. Writing of meter cars and obstacles reminds me of the classification (attributed to Mr. A. J. Balfour) of those who habitually obstruct the passage of south cars. as "The Quick and the Dead". hose who habitually obstruct the passage notor cars, as "The Quick and the Dead."

Arctic exploration in Egypt.
For the encouragement of tourist of a warm winter climate I suggest that a series of photographs be taken of the lake and inserted in such periodicals as the "By-stander" and the "Sketch." A few individuals stander and the Sketch. A rewindivide enveloped in fur coats would lend ad-realism to the scene. When, a few even since, the sunset cast a ruddy glow over lake the scene was positively arctic. lend added

Bird Life at Mex.

The quail season is now practically over and the chain of nots round the coast have been removed. From my window, I have observed every morning for sometime past large flights of duck coming in from the sea, also flocks or heron probably making for the feeding grounds in Upper Egypt now that the Nile is subsiding. I have also seen two redbreasts, a desertchat, a rose-limet or red-poil and a very fine kingfisher of the large variety. This last I saw on the rocks whilst I was awimming and by moving cautiously through the water which was covered with floating sea wend, I got within four yards of the bird which was a magnificent plumaged specimen. To botamists the flots in the neighbourhood of Mex would, I imagine, prove very interesting but I am not sufficiently acquainted with the subject to write about it.

BEYOND THE CITY GATES.

BY ARTHUR DELANY.

By ARTHUR DELANY.

The bustle of the town becomes appalling at times; the gilt nauseous; then in a modern train—with primitive instincts, we leave the 'i'dly busy' world of Cairo, and allow the green fields to envelope us with no parting regret.

Peeping above the trees, the sails of Arab dhows upon the Nile are seen, and through fields of maize and cotton we pursue our way. The minarets of the numerous mosques gradually disappear from view, except the two, lofty and elegant, that guard the mosque of Mehemet Ali, and are still to be seen against the old Mokattams long after the other works of man have been hidden by nature.

The length of the journey is sufficient to permit us to moralise upon the city left behind, and what is the mental picture? We find that, as with other great cities, where life holds a strange incongruous mixture, from which men of all tastes can be satisfied in the observance of men and their ways, so it is with Cairo, but there is, however, in Egypt's capital the addition of many races to supplement the study of humanity.

We may see the ostentations finery of some humanity.

We may see the estentatious finery of some gilded youth, and the loose flowing galabish that partly hides, the slouch of the native. There, is the pantomine of life. The lear of the sensualist; the unstained beauty of the child. The hard look of the money-grubber; the contented face of the man, who, by his gabardine, tells us the follies of this earth have been renounced. All are there! Pursuing their different courses tending either to good, or evil.

"East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet" – but they nearly do in Cairo. The Occident, however, is winning a victory, and the Orient must succumb. For the moment the blend is adulterated. As grandeur rushes by resplendant in the modern lunary of the latest automobile, a native omnibus pursues the even tenor of its way drawn by animals fast approaching the stage, if they have not already reached it, which terminates in beef-essence. Nowhere is the sublime so neatly allied to the ridiculous, as in Cairo.

terminates in toes-essence. Nownere is the sublime so, neatly allied to the ridiculous, as in Cairo.

But we must stop moralising, and leave the city behind, for Matarieb has been reached—"the place belonging to the aun." Near by is old Heliopolis, that was before Abraham, and the eternal-pyssunida,—"the city of the aun."— and this Matarieh derived its name.

Evading the donkey boya, which requires as much skill as would bring an army to victory, we break from the human tracks. The extent of force which environment has upon character is amply felt here. Where everything speaks of peace we feel perforce that we must be at peace with the world. There is no sound save that made by the birds, who apparently are no less happy than ourselves. Through an avenue of sycamore, orange, palm, and bannan trees we pass into the open, where further progress is stayed by the approach of an old friend. He is the local guide, and on our original visit told more untruths regarding the traditions of Matarieb, than we have since learned of the actual truth We, always have a obat, because philosophy bubbles over in him. Kast, Sebelling, or Bacon, would perhaps, have blushed at Arab philosophy, but to us it is as "caviarato the General." Our friend's left eye showed unmistakeable signs of having been tampered with; in fact; it was in a state of disrepair. It exhausted a lot of persuasive power to learn that he had lost the day (and, incidently, nearly his.eye) in a quarsel, but the inherent philosophy of his kind did not forsake him, and readily would the subject have been dismissed by the Arabic word, which is equivalent nearly his eye) in a quarrel, but the inherent philosophy of his kind did not forsake him, and readily would the subject have been dismis-sed by the Arabic word, which is equivalent to "never mind" in our language, had we not suggested that the damaged eye looked as if it would be closed for a long time. This afforded him an opportunity, and with an almost im-perceptible wink in the other, he remarked. "Yes, but it will re-open again for the tourist-reason."

Speaking of Arabian philosophy calls to mind that of an Arab chieftain, one of the most powerful of the princes of the desert, who, for the first time, beheld a steamship. Much attention was paid to him, and every facility affonded for dris inspection of every part of the vessel. What impression the sight made upon him it was impossible to judga; no indications of surprise escaped him; every muscle preserved its wonted calmness of expression; and on quitting the mensily observed. "It is well; but you have not brought a man to life yet."

Let us return from this digression. Matarieh is an absorbing place to those who permit tradition to peas unquestioned, but.

"Who shall desitts when destern dimension."

"Who shall decide, when doctors disagree.
"And soundest cassists doubt, like you, and me

"And soundest casuitate dubt, like you, and me."
The tale of our friend, the guide, to enthusiastic Americans, who gase at the historic tree which is supposed to have sheltered the Virgin and Child after their flight into Egypt, now protected by railings from the Yankee penkaife, differs considerably from the information to be obtained from the Synaxaires of the Copts, — very old works. And there is a divergence of opinion among writers, old and modern, as to the truth of the current traditions, and whether Old Cairo, as it is now called, or Matariels, had the honour of harbouring the Virgin and Child during the two years they lived in Egypt.

Formerly, the garden, in which one may behold interesting biblical monuments, was known as the "Jardin de Bamme." but the balm has long since disappeared. The opinion of the time was, that the plant would not grow without the sid of water from the neighbouring well, supposed to be missoulous as being the bathing place of the infant Child.

Whatever there may be in the traditions of Matarieh, the fact remains they are strengthened by constant reference through the course of successive centuries; so we must not be too sceptical, but leave "the place belonging to the sun" in full emjoyment of its history, and its local guide, who, perhaps after all, is the most interesting monument there.

The "stealthy motion of time" bids us return to the town. We still can see on the return journey, against the back-ground of evening red, the dhows upon the Nile. The green fields look more beautiful still, but we know in a few moments all will be swallowed up in darkness, and once more we will be among the artificial joys of the town.

DEAR MR SPICER.—The work of which you send me photoe is certainly of very high quality and I have rarely seen Heads mounted with such skil and finial. BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE (Aujourd'hai à midi)

Toute l'attention de notre marché a été concentrée, comme hier, sur le Comptoir l'insacier et Commercial (Campon). On évalue à caviron un millier le nombre de titres qui ont changé de mains. C'est le Caire qui vend, ainsi que le démontre l'activité des arbitragistes, et sur notre place o'est principalement la pétite spéculation qui achète, sur le bruit que la prochaine assemblée de la société entendrait un rapport des plus satisfaisants (relee à l'absorption rapide des petits paquets mis en vente, le prix a progressé de 2 29/32 à 3 1/8 la nouvelle et de 2 à 2 1 8 la part de fondateur. Il a été vendu aux embhres publiques 25 actions anciennes au prix de 3 1/32.

Des transactions out été également effectuées, mais en quantiété et nombre insignifiants, sur la National Bank, la Delta Land, l'Agricole et les Ritz Hotels. Ces derniers, étant offerts, ont fiéchi de 9/16 à 1/2. La National Bank bénéficie de 1/16 à 21 13/16, l'Agricole reste stationnaire à 8 1/4; et la Delta Land, et un peu plus taible à 1 7/16. Toqiours sur la rumeur d'un bon coupon, l'Ordinary Khedivial Mail a été recherchée durant toute la matione, mais sans vendeurs, le cours a monté ce ce che de 22/6 à 23/3. Vers la fin les Nangovich Hotels ont été l'objet d'une poussée de 16 3/4, à 17 3/8, sans qu'il y ait-en d'échanges. Au contraire, des offres ont ramené encore la Bébéra de 23 1/4 à 23.

Cest à peu près tout e que la séance de ce matia a offiert de saillant. Comme on le voit, y ait-su d'échanges. Au contraire, des offres ont ramené encore la Bébéra de 23 1/4 à 23.

C'est à peu près tout ce que la séance de ce matin a offert de saillant. Comme on le voit, les affaires, excepté en Comptoir, ont été preque nulles. Aussi les fluctuations de la cote n'ont-élles pas en d'envergure.

A part celles déjà signalées, les Privilégiées Tramways rétrogradent de, 141 à 140, les Jouissances Eaux de Caire de 192 à 190, la Daïra de 13 5/8 à 13 1/2, les Marketa de 26/à 25/6, la Salt à Boda de 18/- 4 1/7/9, l'Abonkir de 28/6 à 28/-, et la fondateur Allotment de 60 à 58 P.T., tandis que l'Obligation nouvelle Crédit Foncier avance de 253 à 253 1/2, et l'Union Foncière de 4.3/4 à 4 13/2.

Sur le reste de la cote, il n'y a pas de changement à signaler. Le tendance est indécise, car on ne peut considérer l'activité circonscrite an Comptoir comme l'indice d'une amélioration générale. L'ensemble de la spéculation reste sur ses positions, dans l'attente d'une direction venant des places dirignantes, où malheureusement la baisse des valeurs américaines exeçce la plus permicisuse influence. De plus, in taux privé d'escompte vient d'être élevé en Angleterre à 4 1/2 ½. Bien que ce soit là un évènement prévu pour la saison, 'il a néanmoins un certain effet déprimant, lorsqu'il est accom pagné d'autres circonstances.

Circulaire H. De Vries et Boutigny

Tel, siasi que nous le faisions remarquer hier, le marché parait s'orienter vers une légère reprise, et la séance d'aujourd'hui pent être taxée sans exagération de séance de consolidation. En effet, l'ouverture a été relativement animée et si peu sprès le calme s'est rétabli, la cloture a enregistré néanmoine un raffermissement sur nombre de valeurs. Les transactions ent és lessent montré un léger progrès, ce qui doons à penser que les liquidations intempestives és ess derniers jours s'arrêtant, le marché poursuit fasilement prendre une allure haussière. Samedi, le bon bilan des Banques associess n'a guère merda sur le pessimisme renfonsé de la place, il y a ou des instants de panique menaçante.
